

The Smithville Regional Hospital Auxiliary was formed in 1995 to provide programs that support and assist staff, patients, families and visitors of the Smithville Regional Hospital. The men and women volunteers contribute in excess of 4000 hours of service each year as their way of giving back to this community.

The Auxiliary In The Hospital

Auxiliary members direct patients and visitors throughout the hospital, provide wheelchair assistance and help to make everyone feel welcomed. Volunteers deliver flowers, mail and other items to patient rooms when needed. Coloring books and crayons are provided by this organization in the Emergency Room waiting area. Complimentary Smithville Regional Hospital balloons are also given to the little ones. In addition, the Auxiliary is available to assist the hospital staff as requested.

Auxiliary members recognize and participate in the observance of special "Health Awareness" months.

The Auxiliary operates a gift shop which is open to the public. There is a vast array of colorful balloons, as well as thoughtful cards and gift items in stock for your loved one. Also available are event specific helium balloons and cards as well as fun and fashionable jewelry, accessories, candles and many unique gifts suitable for any imaginable occasion. Cash, checks, as well as Visa and Mastercard debit and credit cards are accepted.

Through all of these services the Auxiliary members remain an integral part of the hospital dedicated to serving as hospital ambassadors to patients, employees and visitors.

The Auxiliary In The Community

Since its inception the Auxiliary has provided scholarships to those seeking training in the medical profession. Gift shop sales provide the majority of the money for these scholarships. Additional fundraisers are also implemented for supplemental funding. Applications for potential recipients are available at the gift shop.

The Auxiliary steps out into the community to participate in various events. Members join with the staff at the Towers Nursing Home for one of the monthly birthday parties and provide cakes and fellowship to all residents. Additionally, support is provided to various non-profit organizations as determined by Auxiliary members.

The Auxiliary is an active member of the Smithville Chamber of Commerce and was honored by the Chamber as The Outstanding Service Organization for 2001.

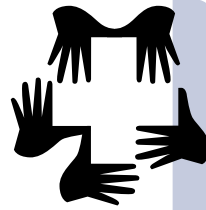

Become a Volunteer

Auxiliary members give back to the community while gaining personal satisfaction and meeting new people. Volunteers receive annual flu shots, yearly TB tests, CPR training and gift shop discounts. Members are also recognized through annual appreciation events.

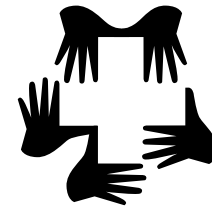

For more information about the Auxiliary stop by the gift shop in the Smithville Regional Hospital or call 237-3214 extension 243 .

To join, complete an application and return it to the gift shop. You will then be contacted by the volunteer coordinator to discuss your application, answer all of your questions and determine how we can all work together. Training is provided and you will receive a TB test.
